BOY WELFARE MEETING CALLED

JUDGE FELDER CALLS MEETING WEDNESDAY NIGHT TO DISCUSS JUVENILE MATTERS.

THE PROBLEM IS URGENT

Disposition and Care of Dependant Children Will Also Be Discussed.

To The Times

There is a condition of affairs among the juvenile offenders of this city that demands the most thoughtful and considerate attention of those who are interested in the betterment of society and the welfare of boys, who will soon become either useful citizens or adult criminals City life offers so many temptations to the little fellows, whose parents are unable, or unwilling to give them constant care and attention, that the people at large must exert some effort to the end that better training and some restraint must be given and such temptations minimized If the temptations to such boys cannot be removed then the boys must be removed or kept away from such temptations

To this end a meeting is called at the court house in this city on Wednesday, August 23, 1911 at 8 p m, of all citizens interested in the welfare of our boys, the betterment of society, and the advancement of civil jurisprudence

The laws of our state have placed jurisdiction of juvenile offenses in the county court, and as county judge I have given much time and attention to youthful offenders When persuasion and kindness have failed I have had to send some of them to the State Institution for the Training of Juveniles at Gatesville This institution is the only one offered or open to such boys, and in many cases it is a cruel and harsh punishment. I have refrained from sending minor offenders to Gatesville, and only do so as a last resort Let us get together next Wednesday night, and devise such means as may be of assistance in the administration of our laws as they pertain to the small boys.

Of equal, or greater importance is the proper disposition and care of the dependent children I have already had many dependent children with which to deal and no doubt there are many more that require attention Neither I nor the officers of my court receive any compensation for our efforts along this line, and we will greatly appreciate the advice and assistance of all interested men and women

BORN OF GRAVE ROSE KILLS ENGAGED GIRL

Nearly Poisoned by Scratch While Attending to Flowers Around Dead Mother.

Greenport, N. Y, Aug 19.—The prick of a thorn of a rose caused the death here of Miss Susan Reichart who was soon to become a bride

On Aug. 1 she visited the grave in Cutchogue Cemetery of her mother, who died two months ago. While attending to the flowers at the grave a rose thorn scratched one of her fingers

She thought nothing of it at the time but the finger began to swell Victor Ostberg, her fiance, urged her to consult a physician, as he feared she was suffering from blood poisoning Miss Reichart failed to summon medical aid until Tuesday last, when she called in a doctor It was then too late, and although everything possible was done her death has just occurred

SECURED FRANCHISE IN CLAY COUNTY

Indicating a plan to connect the Petrolia and Petrolia oil fields with a main pipe line running through Clay county to the Gulf, the Texas Company last week secured a franchise for the use of the public highways in Clay county. A similar franchise was secured in Wichita county.

James E Sullivan, secretary treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, who has been appointed by Governor Dix a member of the New York State boxing commission, to take the place of Bartow S Weeks, who was unable to serve in the office The appointment of Mr Sullivan, who will surely be made chairman of the committee of censors insures that New York will be the center of pugilism in America

MR. KELL WILL MEET WINDOW GLASS MAN

Frank Kell announced before leaving for Altus this morning to attend a meeting of the stockholders of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railroad, that he had arranged to meet Mr Hudson, the president of the Chanute Window Glass Factory at Colorado Springs on Monday instead of at this place as was contemplated Mr Kell had planned to be in Colorado Springs Monday and Tuesday, en route to Idaho hence the change in the plans for meeting Mr Hudson

While the object of Mr Hudson's conference has not been given out it is understood that it has to do with financial matters in connection with the removal of the plant to this city and is a means of facilitating the negotiations that have been in progress for sevral weeks It will be remembered that Messrs Kemp and Kell agreed to take care of some of the financial features incident to the removal and it is to consider this matter that the conference is to be held

POWER OF SENATE BEFORE THE COURT

HEARING AT GALVESTON TO TEST AUTHORITY OF INVESTIGATION.

HABAES CORPUS CASE

Argument Was Made By Attorneys Stubbs and Thomas This Afternoon.

By Associated Press

Galveston, Texas, Aug 19—This morning Judge Street in the Fifty sixth district court began the hearing of arguments in the habeas corpus cases of B Adou and Walter Gresham wherein they are charged with seeking to evade answering the process summoning them to appear before the Senate investigation committee to give testimony concerning the recent prohibition election. Attorney T B Stubbs opened for the two relators and said the writ was valueless and that the Senate committee had not the right in law and no power in the matter

Cullen F Thomas defended the Senate committee, saying that it was laboring harm to no individual but was setking to secure the sanctity of the ballot. He said the two men were not accused of any crime, but were cited to appear and give testimony before the committee which had the right to summon

CATTLEMEN INVESTIGATE 300 PER CENT INCREASE

Special to the Times

San Antonio, Texas, Aug 19.—Just what the cattle men of Texas will do at their coming meeting at Fort Worth cause for the great discrepancy between for the purpose of inquiring into the the price of cattle on foot and the meat on the block, is not known, but that they are in earnest in this effort is very much in evidence in all parts of Texas That there is some kind of an organization somewhere that is responsible for the 300 per cent increase between the producer of meats and the consumer is very evident and the cattle men of Texas believe they will be able to bring this combination out in the open and make it give an account of itself That the increase in price does not apply all along the line in the products from cattle and hogs, and that the great increase from the producer to the consumer is confined largely to those things the people have to have—those on which subsistence depends—is very apparent when the matter is looked into carefully is the opinion of a well known cattle man who has given much thought to the situation Discussing the subject, he said:

"Take hides for instance and the finished product from them The increase in the price of boots and shoes has not been great. In fact one can buy a good pair of shoes now for the same price that prevailed five or six years ago Take all kinds of leather goods, as a rule, and there has not been that great increase that has marked the upward bound in the price of meats If, as some of the packers maintain there is an increased demand for meats it naturally follows that if this comes from the increase in population, that there would be a corresponding increase in the demand for boots and shoes Take any of the by products from cattle and hogs and the increase in price has been but a fraction of that which has marked the increase in the price of necessities We shall do our best at the coming meeting at Fort Worth to locate the cause and if possible start a crusade that will bring about a reduction in the price of meats and a more equitable distribution of the profits"

HASKELL TO OPPOSE OWEN FOR SENATE

Personal Characteristics In Oklahoma Senatorial Race—Friends of Ex-Gov Say He Is Better Mixer

Oklahoma City, Aug 19—The reapportionment of congressional districts in Oklahoma under the federal census of 1910, which gives this state eight instead of five representatives in Congress, is causing less interest among voters than the candidacy of United States Senator Robert L. Owen to succeed himself Ex Governor C N Haskell is seeking the place

Haskell Has a Personal Grudge

The relations between Owen and Haskell have never been friendly Long ago, Senator Owen, in answer to the suggestion that he should visit Governor Haskell in his office, replied that there was nothing he wished to learn from Governor Haskell. That was Senator Owen's way of saying that he did not approve of Governor Haskell Haskell has never forgotten it

Haskell's lieutenants at this time are making the point of appeal to voters that Senator Owen is not a "mixer" and for that reason is not in touch with the people Haskell is the best mixer in Oklahoma and would know better than anyone else how to serve his constituents in the Senate. As a matter of fact, Senator Owen has a poor memory for names, while Haskell rarely forgets a name. If he should, he learns it without arousing suspicion that his memory has failed him This difference between the two men is being used for all it is worth among voters who like to drive into town and have their senators and congressmen meet them at the village grocery store and slap them on the back, and ask about their crops and families, and how they think matters are running along in Washington

Owen Is Progressive.

The Owen men are trying to put the campaign on a different basis They are asking if a man's record in the Senate has any bearing on his fitness to represent his people They show what Senator Owen has been doing They insist that he has been more progressive than even the framers of the constitution of Oklahoma His "Code of the People's Rule" going as far as the recall of the federal judiciary, is a more comprehensive scheme for the restoration of government by the people than was ever promulgated in Oklahoma Attention is called to the fact that in following this course, Senator Owen has opposed the interests" when it would have been far easier and more comfortable to help the "interests" or remain inactive

THE MYSTERY OF THE BROKEN PADLOCK

That a burglary has been committed in the city of which there is no record in the police courts is the opinion of those who have examined a small 'Watchdog padlock that was turned over to Chief of Police Gwinn this morning by the Captain of the Salvation Army

The lock was found by the Captain of the Army as he was sweeping the stairway leading to their hall over the Gem Theatre and it showed beyond any doubt that it had been cut from some place where used as security against intruders The supposition is that the damaged lock had been thrown up the stairway by some one passing who desired to dispose of it as no such lock was used on any of the doors of the building in which it was found

Austin Texas Aug 19—July broke all records for pellagra in Texas. Thirty cases have already been reported and the number is increasing as the reports are received from country physicians The previous high record was twenty-six.

CAPTAIN M'DONALD SUBJECT OF ROW

RESOLUTION TO SUMMON HIM BEFORE BAR OF HOUSE FOR ATTACHMENT OF REPRESENTATIVES OFFERED

HOT DEBATE IS PROVOKED

One Representative Characterizes His Act As An Insult to the House

By Associated Press

Austin Texas, Aug 19—Governor Colquitt sent another message to the legislature this morning in which among other matters he recommends amendments to the city characters of Galveston, Longview and Sherman A charter for McKinney was also suggested. One recommendation looks to a law to give cities and towns power to condemn and impound water in public streams for public use. The message reached the House at noon The Senate is not in session today

Jake Wolters appeared before the House election committee this morning to explain the report he went to New York, in anticipation of an investigation He said he had arranged months before for a visit to New York, Canada and had no idea of escaping investigation He stated he had learned that he and several members of the Thirty first Legislature were charged with being "corrupt" and was prompted to appear before the committee first as a duty to Texas and second in his own behalf and that of members of the legislature. Wolters was excused until further notice

Col George W Breckenridge, of San Antonio, testified before the House election committee today He said he had contributed $1,627.70 toward the cause of prohibition in Bexar county, and would have spent ten times as much if he had known the result would been lost as it was The Senate commission was not in session today.

Representative Chester Terrell's resolution calling for the attachment of Sergeant-at Arms McDonald of the Senate and his arraignment before the bar of the House for contempt of the Senate election committee caused a lively row in the House today Buchanan of Washington denounced the sergant's action in attaching Stephens and Wahrmund yesterday as an insult to the House Hill of Denton, was equally expressive The debate was warm throughout

ASTOR'S BRIDE TO BE GIVEN $2,000,000

Ante Nuptial Agreement and Intention to Marry in France Announced.

New York, Aug 18—Col John Jacob Astor and his fiances, Miss Madeline Force, signed the ante nuptial agreement by which he settles $2,000,000 on his girl bride, in the offices of the Astor estate on Twenty Sixth street just west of Broadway, this afternoon A few minutes later the pair, Col Astor in the happy, love-all-the-world mood which had engrossed him all day started for his yacht, the luxurious Noma, which was lying off the New York Yacht Club pier at the end of East Twenty-Fourth street, coaled and provisioned for a voyage to the Mediterranean or any other spot within four weeks of these shores Miss Force's parents followed a few minutes later

The Noma had been lying there with steam up all day awaiting Col Astor's orders

On authentic information, the family conferences of the last few days have resulted in an agreement that Col Astor and Miss Force are to be married in France

Members of the household believed until Col Astor made a positive statement to the contrary, that the Noma when she arrived this afternoon, was to head directly for France

Col Astor earlier had said that the cruise was to last four days but later he said it was to be indefinite It would depend, he added upon the restoration to complete health of Miss Force, who has been ill and nervous under the strain of criticism of her intended marriage, by ministers newspapers and publicists all over the country.

Frank Gould, who has sailed from Europe to face the indictment against him in the "wire trust" case As he left London, Mr Gould declared he would have no trouble in proving his innocence, that he would be in this country only six weeks and the would return to London for the social season

YOUNG MAN SOLD $200 DIAMOND FOR $10.00

Chief of Police Gwinn this morning recovered a $200 diamond stone that was lost by D M Perkins Friday morning, after the stone had been sold at the jewelry store in front of Bauch's saddle and harness store. It seems that the stone was found by a young man who resides in the city and who afterwards exhibited it to A M Sidwell at Fonville's jewelry store telling Mr Sidwell that he had been offered $1 50 for it but would not sell Mr Sidwell recognized the value of the diamond and at once notified Chief Gwinn and the movements of the young man were watched until he disposed of it at the jewelery store mentioned above for $10, when the officer interceded The $10 was returned to the jeweler, who surrendered the diamond, and it was returned to Mr Perkins No arrests were made in the case

FAIL TO OVERRIDE PRESIDENT'S VETOES

DEMOCRATS LACK NECESSARY MAJORITY ON WOOL AND FREE LIST

FIRST VOTE 227 TO 129

In Debate Speaker of House Condemns President's Action—Leader Mann and Clayton In Clash.

Washington, D C, Aug 19—The Democrats of the House failed to muster the necessary two-thirds majority to pass the wool revision bill and the farmer's free list bill over the President's veto yesterday afternoon, although most of the insurgent Republicans who voted with the majority when those measures originally went through the House stuck to their colors to the last

On the motion to recede the wool bill, notwithstanding the President's veto, the vote was 227 to 129, the ayes being thirty one short of the necessary two-thirds Twenty two insurgents and Akin, the New York independent, joined with the Democrats to override the veto, while eight insurgents who voted for the wool bill got cold feet and stood by the action of the President in disapproving the measure These eight were Representatives Davidson Sloan Kinkaid, Lach, Nye, Kopp, Steers and Stephens, of California, Representative Kendall of Iowa, another insurgent, who cast no vote when the wool bill passed the House, supported the President in this afternoon's contest There were seventeen Democratic absentees, thirteen of whom were paired, but had all the Democrats been present the attack on the veto would have failed just the same When the result was announced there was wild cheering on the Republican side, led by Floor Leader Mann, who stood up, waved his handkerchief and yelled like a Comanche

The veto message on the farmer's free list bill which the President sent to the House early in the afternoon, was read and after twenty minutes' debate the vote was taken on motion made by Chairman Underwood to override the veto There was comparatively little interest in this vote however, as the failure to override the veto of the wool bill had demonstrated that the President would be sustained throughout The roll call resulted 226 to 127 and the Underwood motion failed through a lack of the required two thirds majority.

The vote on the wool bill veto was preceded by a hot three hour debate in which the course of the President in disapproving the bill was vigorously attacked by Representative Underwood, Speaker Clark and other Democrats, while Republican Leader Mann, Chairman Payne, Representative J Hamilton Moore and other Representatives warmly commended the President for blocking the way of tariff revision at this session The Speaker made a characteristically slashing speech in condemnation of the action of the President and when he concluded he was given a deafening ovation by the Democratic side

When the vote on the motion to override the veto began it was watched with intense interest by members of the House and the crowds in the galleries, although it was well known the chances were against the success of the movement to repass the bill over the veto As insurgent Republicans answered in the affirmative they were warmly applauded by the Democrats, while the Republicans applauded the votes of the nine insurgents who sustained the President.

NEWS FORECAST THE COMING WEEK

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN IN CANADA WILL INCREASE IN INTENSITY AS THE DAYS GO.

CONVENTIONS SCHEDULED

Spanish American War Veterans Will Meet in Oklahoma City—Commissioners On State Laws at Boston.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19—President Taft will go to Rochester Tuesday on what will probably be the only trip he will take until he takes his tour of the south and west next month. The Rochester trip will be the fulfillment of a promise to address the Grand Army veterans at their national encampment.

The political campaign in Canada is increasing in intensity as it progresses and scarcely a city, town or hamlet from coast to coast but will hear the oratory of the platform speakers the coming week. Sir Wilfred Laurier will devote the week to the montreal district, Robert L. Borden, leader of the opposition, will speak in half a dozen cities of Ontario.

Admiral Togo, having concluded his visit to the United States, will be entertained in Montreal Monday and will then start for Vancouver to sail for home.

The Argentine battleship Rivadavia the biggest ship of war now building under design, will be launched Saturday at the yards of the Fore River Ship building company at Quincy, Mass.

Monday is the day set for the trial to begin in New York City of Paul Gaidel, the bell boy charged with the brutal murder of William H. Jackson an aged broker in the Hotel Iroquois [illegible] weeks ago.

An international marriage will take place at St. Paul Thursday, when Miss Josephine Kalman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kalman of St. Paul will become the bride of Richard Edward Blaqecque Bey, first secretary of the Turkish embassy in Berlin.

Another wedding of note will be that of Miss Dorothy Chapman, and Benjamin Sturtevant Foss, son of Governor Foss of Massachusetts, which will take place Wednesday in Grace Pro-cathedral in San Francisco.

The convention calendar for the week is filled to overflowing. Among the gatherings of wide scope will be the conventions of the Grand Army of the Republic and affiliated bodies in Rochester, The Spanish-American war veterans in Oklahoma City, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners in Milwaukee, the American Federation of Catholic Societies in Columbus, the Fraternal Order of Eagles in San Francisco, The Loyal Order of Moose in Detroit, the National Association of State Dairy and Food Commissioners in Duluth, the Commissioners on Uniform State Laws in Boston, and the American Veterinary Medical Association in Toronto.

GRANDFIELD MAN KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Grandfield, Okla., Aug. 19.—J. B. Snodgrass, owner of the Commercial Hotel of this city, and contractor who was building a short line of railway into the new town of Hammon Okla., near Grandfield, died at his home last night from injuries received late Tuesday evening, while working with a number of men on the roads.

Dynamite was being used in large quantities in blasting for the road. A number of sticks were accidentally discharged within a few feet of Snodgrass. He was blown some distance his body being horribly mutilated. A leg and arm were blown almost entirely from his body, and his face was torn almost beyond recognition. He lived only a few hours after the explosion.

Snodgrass was married and had 7 children. The funeral took place today.

IF POPE PIUS X SHOULD DIE?

CARDINAL RAMPOLLA IS BEING MENTIONED AS PROBABLE SUCCESSOR TO PAPACY.

HE IS A NOTABLE FIGURE

A Sicilian by Birth and 86 Years Old—His Ability to Cope With Political Statesman Well Known.

Rome, Aug 19—That Pope Pius X. cannot last much longer is becoming a matter of conviction in all quarters. As a consequence the possibility of the imminent conclave is in the thoughts of all persons connected with the vatican, though there is not the slightest sign as yet of canvassing or intrigue among the Cardinals for the chair of St. Peter. Nevertheless procrastinations as to the possible successor to present Pontiff are being made.

The sacred college now has only forty-nine members, twenty-eight Italians and twenty-one foreigners. The Italian majority is strong in number but it is stronger still in influence. Nearly all of the Italian Cardinals reside in Rome and direct all the affairs of the Papacy. As heads of congregations they have the power exercised elsewhere by cabinet ministers. Their views are carried out by Italian subordinates. All the Papal nuncios are Italian, depending from an Italian secretary of state. The majority of the Vatican officials are Italian, from the high chamberlain of the apostolic palace to the lowest menial employed about the premises. All those people with their influence which is strong have nothing to gain and everything to lose from a foreign successor to Pope Pius X.

Foreign Cardinals being thus out of the contest, the choice of the next Pope will be confined to one of the twenty eight Italian members of the sacred college. The best catholic sentiment in Rome at the present time to be unanimous in its expression in favor of Cardinal Rampolla as successor to Pius X. Cardinal Rampolla came near being a successful candidate in 1903 when the present Pope was chosen. It may be assumed that the cardinals who voted for him at the last conclave will agin support him, while it is well known that many of his former adversaries are now his supporters. Pope Pius X. is reported to have said that his successor should be Leo XIV, thus clearly designating Rampolla, whose policy would have been a continuation of that of Leo XIII.

The election of Rampolli at the last conclave was prevented only by Austria's veto. There will be no mention of a veto at the next conclave, for one of the first acts of Pope Pius X. was the promulgation of a constitution abolishing the veto power of Austria, Spain and France in the Papal elections and prohibiting Cardinals under the pain of excommunication from receiving even in the form of simple desire any demand for thir good offices in presenting a veto or making it known in the conclave regardless of whatever manner it may have come to thir knowledge.

Cardinal Rampolla is without exception at the present time the most notable figure of the Sacred College. He is a Sicillian by birth and it was just sixty-eight years ago, yesterday that he first saw the light of day. He was educated at the college Campanica and the Academy of the noble Ecclesiastics in Rome, and in 1875 became attached to the nunciature at Madrid.

In 1877 he became secretary of the congregation of Oriental Rites. In 1882 he was created titular archbishop of St. Charles and sent to Spain as nuncio. He was created and proclaimed Cardinal, March 14, 1887, taking title from the church St. Cecelia, and a few months later was named secretary of state. Since the death of his former chief, Pope Leo XIII., he has lived a very retired life, restricting his activities almost exclusively to his duties as head priest of St. Peters.

The distinguished family connection of Cardinal Rampolla, his intimate acquaintance with Spanish and English affairs, and his abilities to cope with political statesmen are well known. Also he is quite as famous for his learning as for his ability. He has written the best works extant upon the conditions of the Greek church, and upon the infallibility of the Pope, and he is the author of a notable volume upon the historical accuracy of the story of the Maccabees.

Another advantage possessed by the Cardinal as a candidate for the chair of St. Peter is his Patrician ancestry, for it is a tradition of the church that the Pope should be a man of patrician birth.

Rampolla's views are quite as liberal as those of any of the hierarchy and he has ofted expressed warm admiration for Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ireland and other members of the liberal party of the Catholic church in America.

HOW IT FEELS TO FALL 1,000 FEET

Aviator Arthur Stone Tells of His Recent Drop Into Lake Michigan.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Arthur Stone, the aviator, who fell into Lake Michigan with his airship Wednesday, from a height of more than one thousand feet, and who came near being killed, told last night how it feels to drop that distance and what his first thoughts were after striking the water.

"My first thought was, when I saw no tugs in sight and the storm coming on," said Stone, "were I'll bet I won't get home to dinner in time. Funny, isn't it, when one is facing death? But that was my first thought.

"My next thought was, I've got to swim because those 'mutton heads' won't see me. I acted on that second thought and paddled the water at a rate that would have done credit to an old lake packet.

"When I stop to think how close I came to poor Johnstone's tragic end it makes me quake. I noticed something was wrong with my machine after I had made the first turn on the second lap. About two miles out I pulled my controls. They didn't work. I pulled and pulled. I was drifting off the course into the hazy mist over the water and then I concluded my end had come.

"I pulled frantically at the controls again and that time they responded. Instead of making the left turn as I wanted to, the machine darted up into the sky at a terrific speed. I was going out past the line. I knew it was running wild. I kept pulling the controls and trying to come back to earth. Then suddenly something happened to the controls. I felt the machine turn and then speed for the lake. I tried to turn its tail first, but couldn't do it.

"Then I saw the lake water. It seemed to be coming up to me. I wasn't afraid. Again I thought of Johnstone and his being dragged down beneath the water. In a few seconds time I was falling I did a thousand and one things. I held my hand over my face and stood up in the cockpit. When the machine was thirty feet from the water I dived head first and away from it. It hit about the same time I hit with a great crash. I had on a life preserver and was able to keep afloat until the tugs came."

High Tempers Drive Most Men to Seek Divorces From Wives

Fewer Husbands Than Wives Ask Separation, but Lawyers Say It is Result of Chivalrously Permitting Woman to Sue.

High tempers of wives are responsible for more husbands seeking divorces than any other cause, according to the petitions filed by men in the Tarrant county district courts.

A study of the divorce records reveals the fact that fewer husbands than wives seek divorces. The proportion is about one to eight.

On the face of the record, the proportion would indicate that when a man makes a failure in choosing a wife, he is inclined to continue his state, but judges and lawyers say that it is merely a species of gallantry that causes the husband to allow the wife to file suit in a majority of cases in which separations occur.

There are few cases where husbands have contested suits filed by their wives, unless property rights or the custody of children was involved, and it is not unusual for the plaintiff wife to come to the court house in company with the defendant husband. A large percent of the divorces, the lawyers say are by mutual agreement, and the fact that the wife is usually the plaintiff is merely a little convention of society.

Interference of other members of the family, high tempers, infidelity, extravagance, jealousy—all of these are charged by husbands against wives from whom they seek perpetual separation. The following typical divorce causes from the files of the district court petitions answer the question "Why do husbands leave their wives?"

Quarreled With Family.

E. C. M. J.—"I was married in 1902. My wife left me in December, 1908, but returned in July, 1909. She stayed until November, 1909, when she left and has never returned. I tried to faithfully fulifill all of the obligations and duties of a husband, keeping my marriage vows, but her violent temper rendered our home very unhappy. She conceived a violent dislike for my sisters, and quarreled with them constantly, whenever they would visit us. She called one of my sisters a 'yellow haired hussy.' When I reprimanded her for the act she abused me violently.'

Jealous of Family.

N. A. P.—"My wife is insanely jealous. She never liked me to speak to my old friends, and she was rude to my relatives. My father and mother offered us a home with them when we married, and they were as kind and affectionate to my wife as they could be. But she was not satisfied, and repaid their kindness with abuse. One day I walked down the street with my father for a few blocks, to talk over a business matter, and she flew into a rage and declared that I was siding with him against her in some trivial dispute. She has left me, with the intention of staying away, and I know we can never live together again."

Constant Nagging.

J. M. L.—"My wife nagged at me constantly before we separated. I work at nights, and she would not let me sleep days during the day. No sooner would I get to sleep than she would wake me up to complain about something. I couldn't stand it any longer."

Cooking Trouble.

N. M.—"I can't live with my wife any longer. I have stood it since July 27, 1907. I am a working man, and most of the day I would be away from home. I would come home tired and worn out with my day's work, to find that my wife had not cooked supper. She would complain of being sick if I asked her why she had not prepared my supper, and she would put up the same excuse to keep from cooking breakfast. But after I had gone to my work she would always feel able to go down town to picture shows with her friends."

Demands for Money.

R. L. P.—"I am a clerk and while I make a fair salary, I could not make half enough to buy the clothes that my wife wanted. She harassed me constantly with demands for money, and every day complained because I didn't make a bigger salary. Sh eoften referred to one of her old sweethearts, telling me how much money he made. Her ruthless extravagance has plunged me in debt and now she is living with her mother."

Lack of Love.

J. C. R.—"We were married in October, 1909, and separated in January, 1910. From the first my wife was cold and indifferent, and she declared many times that she did not love me. She has left me and says she will not come back."

Disparity in Ages.

M. B. H.—"I am past 50. I married a girl of 20. I loved her devottdly and gave her a comfortable home. But she began to treat me coldly shortly after our marriage, and for weeks at a time she would visit her relatives. She told her parents that I was too strict with her, and they believed it. They were not much in favor of our marriage. When she went to visit them last spring I wrote to her every day. But I believe they intercepted my letters. I don't believe she would have stayed away if she had known how I felt. I have found though, that they have prejudiced her against me to such an extent that we can never live together happily."

Too Fond of Society.

J. N. R.—"I am a ranchman. I married a society girl, who has always lived in town. Sh esaid she loved me well enough to go with me to the ranch or anywhere else, and I thought she meant it. Right away after our marriage, however, she began to insist on me buying a home in the city. I could not afford to neglect my business, and told her so. She finally left me and went back to her people."

WICHITA (KAN.) SHIPPERS WILL GET BETTER RATES

The Wichita Transportation bureau has gained another concession from the railway companies doing business in Wichita's territory. This time it is class rates on shipments from Wichita to points on the Wichita Falls & Northwestern in Oklahoma that are affected. The new rates will make a great difference in the cost of shipping goods to these points.

Under the schedule of tariffs in use up to the present time Wichita firms were obliged to pay the same charge per hundred pounds on shipments of goods from Wichita to towns on the Wichita Falls road, as did the Kansas City firms on shipments from Kansas City to the same points. The new schedule of rates will reduce the charges practically one-fourth.

The towns on the Wichita Falls & Northwestern which are affected by the rates are: Hammon, Carpenter, Elk City, Carter, Moravia, Willow, Brinkman, Duke, McQueen, Gould and Hollis.—Wichita Eagle.

GREAT GATHERING CATHOLIC LAYMEN

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF CATHOLIC SOCIETIES TO HOLD FOUR DAYS SESSION.

12000 MARCHERS PARADE

Special Pontifical Mass Will Usher In Convention Tomorrow Morning.

Columbus, O., Aug. 19.—During the four days beginning tomorrow Ohio's capital city is to have the honor of entertaining what is expected to be the greatest gathering of Catholic laymen ever assembled in this country. The occasion will be the tenth annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, which embraces the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Knights of St. John, the Holy Name societies, the Catholic Order of Foresters and other organizations having an aggregate membership exceeding one million.

A special pontifical mass at the cathedral will usher in the convention tomorrow morning and in the afternoon there will be a big parade in which 12,000 marchers, about one fourth of them in uniform, will take part. The business sessions will begin Monday morning and the convention will be brought to a close with a banquet Wednesday night. Social reform and the participation of Catholic laymen in such movements will form the main subject of discussion. The Most Rev. Diomede Falconico, the apostolic delegate at Washington will attend the convention.

Local Option Election in Hall County.

The commissioners court convened Monday morning in regular session and concluded its sessions Wednesday afternoon. Several new road petitions were acted upon by the routine business attended to.

However, the most important matter acted upon by the court was the petition for a local option election to be held in Hall county. The petition contained over three hundred names, and after due consideration the election was ordered for Saturday, Sept. 9. The object in holding a local option election at this time is to enable the county to take advantage of the new law in regard to bootlegging, which is very necessary as under the old law we have practically no protection from this class of law-breakers.—Hall County Herald.

RULING REGARDING THE U. S. MAIL

LETTERS TO PRISONERS MAY NOW GO TO OFFICERS IN CHARGE.

MAILS TO THE MEXICANS

Americans Must Not Send Arms or Ammunition to the Republic For Next Six Months.

An important ruling concerning registered mail matter handed down by the postoffice department at Washington was received at the Wichita Falls postoffice this morning. This order also instructs postmasters as to the delivery of registered letters to prisoners, employes or inmates of hospitals, sanitariums and asylums, and to members of theatrical companies.

Registered mail, the delivery of which has not been restricted by the sender or addressee, addressed to a prisoner, may be delivered to the officer having the care and custody of said prisoner.

Registered mail, the delivery of which has not been restricted by the sender or addressee, addressed to an inmate or employe of a hospital, sanitarium o rasylum, may be delivered to a person who customarily receives the ordinary mail in each institution, unless a committee or guardian has been regularly appointed for such inmates or a sanitarium or asylum then said registered mail should be in compliance with written order of committee or guardian.

Registered mail, the delivery of which has not been restricted by the sender or addressee, addressed to any member of a theatrical company may be received by any responsible person who customarily receives the ordinary mail.

Arms for Mexican Barred.

In an order received at the local postoffice from the postoffice department at Washington this morning, postmasters are notified that for the next six months arms and ammunition sent through the United States mails for points in Mexico will be held up. This order which becomes effective at once, was taken on advices received at Washington from the postal administration of Mexico.

In the order received this morning John W. Hollyday, second assistant postmaster general stated that articles of the nature mentioned must not be forwarded but must be returned to the foreign exchange office concerned.

The Williams redistricting bill places Wichita along with Grayson, Cooke, Wise, Montague, Clay, Archer and Young counties in the Sixth Congressional district. Wilbarger is placed in the 18th district.

While Texas produces 30 per cent of all cotton raised in the United Staes, only about 2 per cent of it is manufactured into the finished product on Texas soil. There can be no better argument than this for the establishment of more cotton factories in Texas.

The railway employes throughout England to the number of 220,000 are out on a strike, and traffic is said to be completely demoralized in fact the situation is so grave that Parliament, which was due to adjourn today, has decided on the advice of Chancellor Lloyd-George, to prolong its sessions for a few days longer, in which time it is hoped that the strike will be settled.

Madero is somewhat of a diplomat. He has proven this on more than one occasion, but there is fresh evidence of this fact carried in the press dispatches of today, which state that he has succeeded in his mission of peace, and Gen Zapata, the leader of the insurrectos in the State of Morelos, has agreed to lay down arms and muster out his troops On his arrival at Zapata's camp, the latter's soldier styled Madero a traitor, but by the time he had finished his address to them they greeted him with "vivas" Madero, evidently is not as common as his photographs indicate

The Wichita Falls Times and the Bonham Favorite favor Dr Wilson for the nomination next year A great majority of the Texas democratic papers are supporting the New Jersey executive, if that's any indication—Denton Record and Chronicle.

The Times favors the nomination of Gov. Wilson first. Because it believes him to be a clean man, politically; secondly because he is of Southern birth, and if elected will recognize the Southern states as a part of this American Union. Other administrations, with the possible exception of the two of President Cleveland, have utterly failed in that respect.

The Methodist Conference is soon to convene at Altus, Okla., and by some means or other a reporter of the Altus News has secured the trial docket of the conference and published a list of those against whom charges of misconduct have been filed and who will be tried on the cahrges by the conference. Omitting names, the charges include the following: One case or embezzlement; one case of giving drink to customer; one case of failure to pay subscription to preacher, one case of keeping beer in ice box; seven cases of making false representations to customers; one case of kidnapping another man's wife; two cases of gossiping; one case of grafting while city councilman; one case of vagrancy; one case of bootlegging; one case of drunkenness and ungentlemanly conduct.

MILL OWNERS FIGHT LUMBERMEN'S UNION

Practical Lockout Said to Be Scheduled by Twenty-Two Operators.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 19—Ten thousand men will be thrown out of employment if twenty-two mills in the Southern Sawmill Operator's association in Louisiana and Southeast Texas close this evening in compliance with an order said to be the result of the conference of operators just closed in Chicago. According to a dispatch received here late yesterday, the closing of the mills is for the purpose of crushing an alleged labor organization movement, the object of which is the "unionizing" of the lumber workmen.

A prominent New Orleans lumberman today said that the mills will remain closed "until the union leaders are driven out." The order has been signed and promulgated, he said, and the mills will close and stay closed as long as necessary.

The action of the mill owners is said to be directed at the Brotherhood of Timber Workers of which A. L. Emerson is president and J. Smith secretary, with headquarters at Houston, Texas

To Prevent Bitter Taste in Milk.

During the late summer and the fall, when pastures are low and there is little grass for stock, many country housewives are troubled by the milch cows eating bitterweed, which causes the milk and butter to be unfit for use. Use this method of doing away with that bitter taste, and you will not find bitterweed such a pest: Each time, when milking, place a generous lump of charcoal into the milk pail and milk upon it Strain milk as usual, and while washing milk pails, use cold water and a brush and wash the charcoal thoroughly In this way no clabber forms in the pores and the same lump remains sweet and can be used often

ULTIMATUM TO SLAYERS OF WYATT STAPLES

Following a conference with Attorney H. L. Standeven of Hobart, who represents the Swanson County Deputies who are resisting arrest by the Comanche county officials on the charge of killing Wyatt Staples, a farm hand who was employed by Commissioner C. F. Bull, on Feburary 13th, County Attorney John A. Fain stated last evening that he had given the four men implicated until today to decide whether or not they would give up peaceably and submit to arrest without trouble. They asked for a little more time to confer with Attorney Tom Connor of Hobart Connor will be in Mountain Park this morning to confer with them.

Mr Fain stated last night that the men would be arrested today. He considers the Swanson county matter closed and will take no further steps against it, unless the officers in some way interfere with anything or any one in the tier of townships on the west side of Comanche which were formerly in Swanson. The only matter which he is now working on, is that of placing under arrest the four men charged with the killing of Wyatt Staples. They are: W. H. Brashears, Sheriff; Sam McNeil, deputy; C. Webber, deputy; R. S. Craft, deputy. Warrants for the arrest of those men are in the hands of Sheriff Geo. Daniels of Kiowa county. He is holding them to await the decision of the men after conferring with their lawyer. If they refuse to give up without a fight, Mr. Fain will take more drastic steps to place them under arrest. However, he expects that the entire matter will be closed satisfactorily today.—Lawton Star, Friday.

Supply of the World's Minerals.

Scientists occasionally make calculations as to the mineral resources of the world, and every year or two the press of the country publishes their tables showing how long our coal supply will last, the brief period of time that will exhaust our iron ores and the very few years for which we can count upon procuring petroleum or its products. For more than a century these warnings to the earth's inhabitants, as to the scantiness of supply of natural products in general demand, have been sent broadcast and it is not many decades ago since statements were published as to the earth's rapid exhaustion in the production of wheat and the prediction of dire calamities in consequence thereof. The experience of those best acquainted with the subject of minerals leads them to the conclusion that it is impossible to make any calculation as to the quantity hidden in the earth, but that everything tends to the belief that but a very small fraction of the mineral treasures or resources existing are as yet discovered.

Whether it be radium, diamonds, gold, silver, copper, lead, tin, zinc, coal or other minerals, rare or common there no doubt exists immense deposits as yet unworked, and others equally great, undiscovered. A case in point, is the discoveries made by the Government of Sweden through the operation of diamond drills in the hills of magnetic iron near the town of Kiruna, Lapland. The drills have gone down to a depth of 754 feet, and still the ore continues fully as rich as at points closer to the surface. No one can make correct calculations as to where the supply of ore will cease in its downward course, but estimates from one single mountain based upon the depth already proved show more than 750,000,000 tons available to modern mining purposes.

This is but one property of sevarl great deposits known to exist in Sweden, and such a tonnage would not have been thought of as existing anywhere by the scientists of 30 years ago.

Canada, Mexico, the United States, Venezuela and Chile hold immense deposits of minerals that prospectors know of, but that are not published to the world for obvious reasons Alaska is an empire of mineral wealth lying untouched largely through greed and graft, upon one hand, and failure of our Government to open that vast and rich region to our entire population under a policy that will forbid monopolistic combinations, but promote, while limiting, individual enterprice.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Caviar Defeats Cholera.

St Pttersburg—The Ottoman Bacteriological Institute has found that caviar is an antidote for cholera. The discovery is the result of a protest against the Turkish government's exclusion of Russian caviar from Turkish territory for fear of cholera infection. The institute, after Turkey's ban, experimented with a pot of caviar which had been infected with cholera bacilli. In four days' time it found that all the cholera germs in the caviar had been destroyed.

SOL WILLIAMS TALKS ABOUT OIL DEVELOPMENT

Mr. S. Williams of Fort Worth, the man who put Electra on the map, and the first man in all the state to realize the value of the territory as an oil field, was in Wichita Falls today, stopping at the St. James.

Mr. Williams is still just as enthusiastic about the future of the Electra field, as he was in the days five years ago, when he stood alone in proclaiming the territory as one which would astonish the world with the amount of oil it would produce. In those old days there were but few who would listen to his forecast, and but fewer still who more than laughed at his prediction, but today many of the same men are fighting for a chance to buy at big prices, leases on the land they could have then bought in fee simple for one tenth of the money.

To a reporter for the Times today Mr. Williams said he believtd the Wichita county oil field was going to be the greatest producing field in the United States. In his opinion there was absolutely no limit to the extent of it, and this opinion is based on the fact that opportunity in every direction from the first wells, was oil found as soon as the wells were put down. Mr Williams said that five years ago, when he was selling out the townsite of Electra, he told his buyers that he believed the oil strata extended in a northeasterly direction from the Wilbarger county line, clear across Wichita county, and wherever in that direction wells have been sunk oil has been found,

Mr. Williams also said that he was sure the oil development in the county was going to be the greatest factor yet introduced in the upbuilding of Wichita Falls. Already, he said, several large oil supply houses wert making arrangements to establish agencies here, and this would bring in a great deal of capital and a considerable number of employes. He also said that dtvelopment in the field had been retarded somewhat by the fact that one of the big oil companies operating there was strong opposed to publicity in the matter, and that most of the big papers of the state had been silent as to the work being done, but that the tremendous results that had been obtained with so little expenditure had attracted the attention of practical oil men all over the country, and now they were coming in at a rate that would mean that every acre of possible oil land would soon be under lease, and that all the leases would be in active operation. He stated, also that leases contiguous to the proven field were now selling as high as $200 per acre bonus, and that almost any figure asked was not considered unreasonable in view of the possibilities

Mr. Williams left for his home in Fort worth this afternoon, but will probaly return to Wichita Falls and Electra next week.

When making jelly, shave the paraffin and put a few shavings into each glass before pouring in hot jelly. As the latter cools, the paraffin, which is melted, rises to the top, forcing all the air out. When cold, the glasses are sealed with a thin sheet of wax, and are air tight. This is a more economical and practical way than the old way and once tried will be always used.

FIFTY COUNTIES WANT ROAD BOND ISSUES

Fifty counties in Texas, now with bad highways, soon will pass large bond issues for road improvement, if Governor Colquitt's suggestion that bond issues may be carried by a majority instead of a two-thirds vote is passed by the legislature. This statement was made Friday morning by John A. Arnold, president of the Texas Commercial Secretaries, which has been working for the measure for many months.

Following the announcement that Governor Colquitt had incorporated this suggestion in a special message to the legislature, Mr Arnold issued Friday morning a circular letter to the commercial secretaries of Texas and many other prominent citizens, requesting co-operation and urging them to get behind their respective representatives and senators to pass the law. He addressed a personal letter to Louis J. Wortham, representative from Tarrant county, to lend his aid to the passage of the measure.

"This bill would be one of the greatest pieces of constructive legislation that has been passed in Texas for many years," said Mr. Arnold. "In many counties, bond issues for road improvements have failed because the necessary two-thirds majority could not be secured. Never has a bond issue for road improvement failed to gain a majority and even counties that have feared the issue previously will take it up as soon as such a bill is passed."

Stock Company at Colonial.

Commencing Monday night the Colonial Theatre will put on for the following week the Russell-Davis Stock Company in a repetoire of standard comedies and dramas, with a change of play each night The play Monday night will be "The Substitute," followed during the week week with such well known dramas as "The Awakening," "The Old Surgeon," "Jesse James," "The Dancing Girl," etc. The Russell Davis Stock Company is one of the oldest theatrical concerns in the Southwest, having been in the business for more than twenty years. The stars in the cast are Mr. Lawrence Russell and Miss Emma Marie Davis and these are supported by a strong company of well known actors.

This week the company is playing at Abilene, and enthusiastic audiences have greeted them during every performance.

For tonight at the Colonial Managers Jones offers Swor and Humphries in vaudeville, and four good pictures in motion photography. Owing to the fact that the Mutt and Jeff pictures again failed to come, he is forced to disappoint his patrons in that respect but is making up for it with a program that he thinks is just as good

COURAGE AND THE DENTIST.

Every inhabitant of the United States above the age of six who has a natural tooth in his head ought to go to the dentist at least twice a year. Every intelligent inhabitant knows it but only comparatively few go. It hurts and a great many people will suffer hours of agony rather than be hurt for a few minutes.

The dentist finally is as inevitable as death and taxes, but he is one of the many things that you can lie to yourself about for a long while. You can say you'll go next month or the first of the year; you can pretend that the unpleasant sensation in the side of your head results merely from a cold and will soon pass away. Like the "moderate drinker" whose digestion is going wrong you can tell yourself that the laws of Nature will probably be miraculously suspended in your behalf and the cavity in your tooth will presently disappear without taking the tooth with it. As with a hundred other bad or foolish practices, you can dodge and pretend and procastinate for quite a spell.

Meanwhile the dentist is waiting for you in serene assurance. From time to time he merely takes the auger out of his electric drill and replaces it with one a size larger. If you put off going long enough he meets you with an implement which comes out through the top of your head at the tenth revolution, incidentally pulling your heart up by the roots. His profession requires him to be an exceedingly just man and pay you off to the last penny; but if you go to him courageously two or three times a year he will scarcely hurt you at all. The experience will not be more disagreeable than eating a mouthful of soft soap.—Saturday Evening Post.

MISFORTUNE TO COUPLE BENT ON MARRIAGE

Having his automobile upset and burned almost within sight of home of hoped to be bride after a fifty-mile drive, then to ride thirty miles on a train and be refused a marriage license, was the unfortunate experience of a Crowell man.

At about three o'clock this morning County Clerk Reid was awakened at his home to find a couple wanting a marriage license. He invited them into the house where the prospective groom told him of having driven from Crowell almost to the home of the girl near Vernon last night where in truning out to pass another vehicle the automobile was overturned and took fire and burned within a few minutes.

Not to be balked he walked on to the girls house where he secured a horse and buggy and accompanied by the girl drove to Oklahoma in time to catch the southbound passenger train.

Upon arrival here they hired an automobile and hunted up the county clerk.

Although the couple presented a statement purporting to be signed by the girl's mother, that she was more than eighteen years of age, Mr. Reid believed she was nearer fourteen than eighteen and was compelled to refuse to issue them a license.

Their disappointment was great but it is understood they continued south in their automobile hoping to secure a license at Henrietta.

The story of the burned automobile was not believed at the time, but oil men coming in this afternoon report having seen a burned automobile along the roadside near Oklaunion.

Mr. Reid could not remember the names of the couple and their identity was not learned.

Gold Discovered Near Alpine.

LATE SPORTING NEWS

LADS WERE DEFEATED FINAL SCORE 11 TO 2

Special to the Times.

Comanche, Okla., Aug. 19.—Ardmore outclassed the Irish Lads and won handily in yesterday's game the final score being 11 to 2.

Larned pitched for Wichita Falls and was hit freely.

The Lads leave this afternoon for Wichita Falls, where they will open a four-game series with Durant Sunday.

Durant 5, Bonham 3.

Bonham, Texas, Aug. 19.—Durant won from Bonham yesterday in a close well-played game by a score of 5 to 3.

McKee was effective the early part of the game, but the locals hit him rather hard the last three innings.

Bonham filled the bases in the ninth and but for a couple of decisions by Corzine might have won the game. Managers Humphries of Bonham, led the batting, getting three singles out of five times up.

PROVISION FOR HOME LABOR

Few changes from the Lamar county road law are contained in the draft of a special law which has been prepared and will be presented at the present session of the legislature for Wichita county.

One important provision, however, has been added.

The Lamar county law provides that the improvements shall be done by contract while the act drafted here provides that the board shall have power either to let the work by contract or to employ a superintendent and employ day labor, as they may deem advisable.

This provision was not contained in the first draft prepared by the committee, but attention was called to the oversight and the provision will be embodied in the bill that will be taken to Austin. This provision will be added to insure the employment of home labor in the improvement.

Give a woman authority over a man and she will impose upon him.

After a girl has been married six months she uses fewer adjectives.

If a girl is pretty and knows it, she doesn't care if all the world knows it.

A girl's bathing suit almost disproves the theory that it is impossible to make something out of nothing.

The Highest Salaried Man in Baseball.

Who is the highest salaried man in baseball?

Volumes have been written on this subject and theer has been an abundance of discussion, pro and con—in point of absolute fact, most of it "con"—as to the identity of the lucky individual. So far as is known the real facts in the case have been carefully guarded from the public. But—

It is solemnly stated in New York that John McGraw, the popular and peppery leader of the Nationals, has annexed his John Hancock to a contract for a term of years, having as its mean proviso a salary of $18,000. This is per year—also perhaps. Granting that the story of Jawn's yearly stipend has not been too greatly exaggerated, it is safe to assume that he is king pin of them all as far as salary goes.

Though manager of the haughty Giants, McGraw is by no means a giant himself, physically, I mean. He's a short, and more or less chubby individual, but when you see him strut up to the ump to protest a decision, you can readily believe that nature intended him for a giant if there did seem to be a shortage of material.

McGraw's close friends call him "Muggsy"—but not when they are too close to him. This fits the Gotham baseball czar like the proverbial paper as to why it was given him to carry on the wall, and needs no explanation through his diamond career. Muggsy is a clever baseball general, an excellent judge of players and a disciplinarian of the do-what-I say-or-I'll-knock-off-your-block type. And he's undoubtedly worth the $18,000 per to the club stockholders, sometimes referred to as the "men behind." Only in Gotham they are ahead of the game financially rather than behind.

Terrible Train of Troubles.

Douglasville, Texas.—"Five years ago I was caught in the rain at the wrong time," writes Miss Edna Rutherford, of Douglasville, "and from that time was taken with dumb chills and fever and suffered more than I can tell. I tried everything that I thought would help, and had four different doctors, but got no relief, so I begun to take Cardui. Now I feel better than in many months." Cardui does one thing and does it well. That's the secret of its fifty year's success. As a tonic, there is nothing in a drug store like it. As a remedy for woman's ills it has no equal. Try it. Price $1.

$25,000 O'TOOLE AND CATCHER KELLY

Since the days of Mike Kelley there has been a long list of $10,000 beauties, that rare exotic in the big league floral display, but it remained for the present to produce the $25,000 beauty. The deal involving Marty O'Toole, the pitching phenomenon of the American Association, created a furore in the baseball world when it was learned that Barney Dreyfus of the Pittsburg Pirates, was the lucky big league magnate to land this most spectacular of pitching prizes.

When Manager Mike Kelley of the St. Paul baseball club closed the deal with John I. Taylor of the Boston American League club for Marty O'Toole, he announced that he had landed a boy who, with proper training, would some day be the greatest pitcher in the country. The deal which brought O'Toole to the Saints was negotiated during the early spring of 1910, and the red haired athlete joined the Kelley camp at Excelsoir Springs, Mo., on March 18. The youngster had been tried out by the Cincinnati club but Clarke Griffith refused to waste his valuable time "nursing" along a youngster, and Marty was turned back to the bush. Boston drafted him from the Brockton, Mass., club, and John I. Taylor, owner of the Boston team, turned him over to Kelley as the wind-up of the trade which brought Chech, Stelle and Ryan to St. Paul and sent Hall and Karger to Boston. O'Toole, owing to lack of confidence in himself, failed to get into the win column as often as he would have liked, and after "blowing up" in several games, he approached Manager Kelley one day and asked the club leader to send him to some minor league club where he could work in his regular turn and where he might overcome the nervousness that had overtaken him. Accordingly Kelley sent him to the Sioux City club of the Western League. After joining that club, the red-haired athlete experienced but little trouble in striking out eighteen batters, establishing a record. He won game after game for Sioux City and is credited with winning the pennant for that organization.

Manager Kelley had sold him with an option clause in the "bill of sale," and the opening of the 1911 season found him back with the Saints. He started in to pitch a wonderful article of ball and has kept this up, until today he is considered one of the greatest finds in the history of the game. He established an American Association record and tied up the world's mark when he fanned seventeen Milwaukee players in a Sunday game at Lexington, St. Paul, on July 9. This feat opened the eyes of the big league scouts and Manager Kelley soon found himself buried under a pile of telegrams offering him big money for the pitcher and his battery partner, William Kelly.

Billy Kelly, the second party of the $20,000 battery is easily the greatest catcher in the American Association this season and is another student of the Mike Kelley school. Billy started his professional baseball career on the Springfield club of the Three I League and although he caught only fair ball with the minor league club, his hitting won for him the honor of a rise into major league company. He was drafted by the St. Louis National League club, but Roger Breshnahan, like Clarke Griffith of the Cincinnati club, failed to see anything valuable in the makeup of the young athlete, and he sold him outright to the St. Paul club. Kelly was second catcher last season, playing substitute to "Tubby" Spencer, but the opening of the present season found him catching wonderful ball and hitting at a .300 clip, so it took Manager Kelley only a few weeks to reach the decision that Kelly was a more valuable man to his club than was Spencer. Kelly was accordingly given the position of first catcher and today he is the talk of the country.

LIVERY STABLE BURNED AT HENRIETTA

(Henrietta Independent)

Between 12 and 1 o'clock Wednesday night the livery stable of Thaxton & McAdams on North Bridge street was destroyed by fire. The flames had gained great headway when the fire was discovered, and though the fire department got on the scene in quick time and there was plenty of water, nothing was saved except the livestock which were not in the building proper but in a lot adjoining. They were turned out and driven away. All the vehicles, harness and equipment, as well as feed, were consumed.

W. H. Davidson's hearse was housed in the stable. It was also burned.

Taxton & McAdams' loss was about $3000, with $2700 insurance. Mr. Davidson's hearse was valued at $550 and insured for $400.

The building was of corrugated iron, erected five or six years ago. Mr. Thaxton told the Independent that they would not rebuild at present, and they had not determined upon plans for re-engaging in business.

Jim Smith, the Westchester scrapper, who, although defeated in his bout with Sam Langford, is looked upon as a comer. Smith weighed ten pounds less than Langford when they met, tipping the beam at 165, while Langford registered 175. Being able to train down well below the middleweight limit of 150, Smith is expected to make many things happen in that division. He went out of his class to fight Langford, as he admits himself.

If an engineer passes a stop signal in a safety device adopted by a German railroad an electric bell is rung in his engine cab until his mistake is reported by an official of the railroad.

A lemon squeezer that can be carried in the pocket, the invention of a Rhode Islander, consists of a flat, wedge-shaped metal box, containing hinged jaws that face an opening at the wide end.

Automobile tires are protected from puncture by the invention of a small brush, to be suspended in front of a wheel, clear of the ground but near enough to push aside small objects.

This Bank and Your Business

There are many banks in the country larger than The Wichita State Bank. They may have more capital and perhaps do a greater volume of business. But for the smaller business man, farmer or manufacturer, had it occurred to you that the small bank is the best place for the beginner to go?

The big bank is often cold-blooded and independent. Your business in the big bank is but an incidental detail, and your interests are scarcely noticed.

The small bank, however, can give your business more time and attention, for it is interested in your success.

This bank while small in comparison to some of the large banks, has ample means and facilities to properly care for your business. Its officers have time to consider your interest and welfare Your business will be welcome and will receive their best attention.

WIDER SKIRTS WILL BE INTRODUCED

IT SEEMS LIKELY TOO THAT FALL MODELS WILL RETAIN HIGH WAIST LINE.

SLASHED SKIRTS ARE CHIC

Tendency Is Away From Severe Mannish Effects In Woman's Tailored Garb.

New York, Aug 19.—It is still rather uncertain what changes in fashion the near future may bring but there is accumulative evidence that some changes, though only slight and gradual, may be expected Radical and revolutionary changes of fashion are no longer feasible Women are led up to these changes gently and by degrees, so that they may not shy when confronted by them The extensive use of laces and flounce trimmings is to a great extent responsible for the slight deviation from the straight line silhouette, clearly noticeable in the latest models imported from Paris.

Some of the French makers of fashion seem to be determined to introduce perceptibly wider skirts. Models indicating an increasing sweep, usually lean and or bell-like lines, have already appeared; but on the whole the late summer models go little further than the development of scant flounces, little frills and flat, triple or double skirt arrangements

Th every sheer summer stuffs are undeniably prettier and more piquant with some suggestion of frilliness, particularly around the feet, and a group of four little over-lapping lace frills on the bottom of a softly frilled skirt of fine linon, weighted down into straight, narrow lines, is a prettier finish than the flat foot band of silk satin or heavy lace to which, nevertheless, women are so accustomed that even the limp little frills have a certain effect of novelty.

In many of the new models the waist line is a trifle high and it seems likely that many of the fall models will retain this very slight waist elevation though the general opinion among the knowing is that the normal waist line will assert itself with emphasis this fall and that more of the curves of the feminine torso will be seen than have been visible in the toilette of the last year.

Slashed skirts are said to be the greatest and most chic novelty of fashion in Paris Skirts are cut away to show the ankle and instep, or, if not actually slashed there is an arrangement of buttons and buttonholes or a pleat that suggests the presence of a slash for the moment not definitely evident. Withthese slashed skirts are worn soft silk or pleated chiffon petticoats of contrasting color, and a few daring women have appeared without petticoats, the silk-stockinged ankle being revealed as the skirt is moved in walking It is not expected, however that American women will take kindly to these slashes skirts

There is more and more tendency to get away from the severe, mannish effects in women's tailored garb, and this season many snappy touches in the way of big, graceful collars, dashing cuffs, fancy buttons and swinging panels or sashes give a sprightly and feminine suggestion to the indispensable coatand skirt suit

Navy blue and scarlet are appearing prominently in the autum models They are the old army colors, deep navy blue and bright red, and are striking as well as youthful Blue serge or tough tweed traveling and motor coats have hood collars of scarlet broadcloth, and blue sergesuit show dashes of the scarlet in the trimming With these semi-military suits many of which have smart touches of black braid, are worn the broad sombrero hats heralding the approach of autumn. White is extremely good in a hat of this kind hen into a becoming shape and trimmed simply with a soft scarf, a band or a military ornament.

A wide band of black velvet on the underdress and a belt to correspond introduce a pleasing note of contrast on an embroidered white voile frock fashioned in the popular straight tunic style On a lingerie dress for a young girl black satin forms a small sailor collar and is used also for belt and skirt border A big black silk bow and pipings of black lend a touch of distinction to a sailor suit of cream serge for girl of sixteen The model is fashioned in one piece opening in the front, a simulated opening in the back being fastened with white silk lacing

Low neckwear will by no means be abandoned with the coming of autumn, though there is always a tendency toward high and formal neckwear as cooler weather approaches For little fall street frocks or serge and mohair pretty collars and cuffs of linen and lace are ready and, of course a handsome set of this sort will add greatly to the dressiness of even the simplest frock The Corday style of collars is used a great deal and is seen on many of the handsomest models

Chenille dotted veils are again fashionable, and sobweb effects hold their own with woman who find them becoming, but the limp silk mesh veils are the favorites of fashion at the present moment, and these veils in both white and black will be worn all through the early fall When the veil has a handsome border it is draped gracefully from the hat brim and allowed to fall on the shoulders, the ends in the back reaching almost to the waist line. Ordinary face veils are drawn trimly and neatly back and pinned against the hair. Many folds of the veil are crushed under the chin and are sometimes tucked beneath the tall stock, making a very chic and neat appearance.

Tremendously high stocks will, it is predicted, take the place of the shaped neckwear of the summer, and these tall stocks are made of the sheerest laces, well boned and finished at the top with a satin hem or cord which keeps the thin material from getting shapeless and slimsy. Such stocks should be fitted well to the neck, and at the back there should be tiny loops and buttons, the only allowable being a handsome brooch which may be thrust in at the throat more as an ornament than a fastening.

Black and white as a combination is more in evidence than ever. Black-and-white stripes, black hats with white crowns and the other way around, white lingerie frocks trimmed with white and black or entirely black velvet bands and white stockings with black shoes are some of the many ways in which the vogue is expressed.

Lingerie gowns are elaborately trimmed with all-over eyelet embroidery and wide lace banding and insertion. In fact, many resemble monster cobwebs, so open are the meshes.

For cool days at the shore stunning white serge and camel's hair suits are trimmed with many rows and arrowheads of colored silk. Blue, green, tan and black are principally featured.

A notable featurein hat trimming now is that the ribbon bows and flowers are no longer placed at the back. All trimmings are gradually working around toward the front of the hat

Lingerie waists made of dimity are seen in the newest models in some of the exclusive shops

There is little doubt that the coming autumn will breing along the little bolero jacket in numbers and variety.

FLORENCE FAIRBANKS

Thoughts on the Sea Wall

I stood on the mighty sea wall,
In that city by the sea.
And faint and far I heard the call
From out eternity
The Mexic waters rose and fell
With an awful undertone,
While overhead the clouds did swell
With the thunder's deep voiced moan

The waves grew higher and more high,
And the grandeur greater grew,
When from the floodgates in the sky
The rain came pouring through
The waters of the gulf ainge
With such tumeosity,
But paused between its troubled throes
To bow to heaven's decree

It drained the overflowing cup,
It drank it greedily,
Its bounding breakers still rolled up
In mighty majesty,
The sky and sea seemed rolled in one,
One dreadful, deadly thing,
Which had the length of its leash run
Bent on destroying.

With fearful fascination I
Stood on the sea wall grand,
Which firmly, proudly did defy
The erstwhile blighting hand
Galveston seemed its blooming bride,
And stood beside it there
In all her beauty and her pride
Relying on its care

No more she trembles in affright
When hurricanes doth rage,
And in the blackness of the night
Disaster turns a page
No more she dreads the Storm King's call,
No more she fears the wrath,
She leans upon her wondrouswall
That dams the tempest's path

And when in darkness she doth lie,
She calmly goes to sleep,
Without a tremor or a sigh,
Her faith is broad and deep
The winds and waves can do no harm,
They die upon the breast
Of that great guard whose splendid arm
Insures her dreamless rest.

O what a wondrous mighty thing,
The mind God gave to man,
It beats the air with tireless wing,
Evolving plan on plan,
And the sea wall on the gulf shore,
Its child of recent birth,
Reveals to us as ne'er before
What man's great mind is worth.

Notes from Labor World

The cigar industry in Cuba employs 3,342 females.

The corner stone of the labor temple in Utica, N. Y., will soon be laid.

Printers in San Juan, Porto Rico, have secured an increase of fifty per cent.

The plasterers of Richmond, Virginia, secured an eight hour day without a strike.

The laborers organized in Massalon, Ohio, have been granted an increase of 1 1-2 cents per hour.

Pattern makers of Chicago have secured an increase of 3 1-4 cents per hour.

Fifteen hundred employes of the International Harvester works at Moscow, Russia, have gone on a strike.

The moulders of Ann Harbor, Mich have won their strike for an increase of fifty cents per day and a reduction of one hour.

Woman workers are now engaged in all but two of the 303 gainful occupations of man in the United States and Canada.

Brewery workers of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, won their strike for an increase of $1 per week, the engineers obtained a $2 increase.

Union carpenters in Kingston, Ontario, have obtained an advance from 31 1-4 cents to 35 cents an hour for a day of eight hours.

The age limit at which a man may obtain employment in any department of the Erie Railroad is now 35 years.

The organized men employed on the North British Railway have gone on a strike for shorter hours and higher wages at Coatbridge and vicinity.

French agricultural pursuits account for 5,500,000 men and nearly 8,500,000 women. Nearly 4,750,000 men and more than 2,500,000 women are employed in the trades.

The Danish parliament has passed a bill whereby seamen are allowed to participate in the elections for parliament by power of attorney, or by sending in their votes.

The semi-annual report of the United Hebrew Trades in New York show that ten new local unions were formed and fifteen strikes assisted, only three of which were unsuccessful.

At Hardwick, Vt., the granite cutters obtained an increase of from 10 to 56 cents per day, the lumpers and drillers an increase of 17 cents per day, and carpenters, painters and masons secured an eight hour day.

Three thousand waiters in Marseilles, France, have gone on a strike for 90 francs per month and the right to wear mustaches. The proprietors have formed an association and increased the price of drinks, and this action has had the effect of lessening the tips usually received by French waiters, hence the demand for higher wages.

ONLY ONE "BEST." Wichita Falls People Give Credit Where Credit is Due.

People of Wichita Falls who suffer with sick kidneys and bad backs want a remedy that can be depended upon. The best is Doan's Kidney Pills, a medicine for the kidneys only, made from pure roots and herbs, and one that is backed by good deeds in Wichita Falls. Here's Wichita Falls testimony:

W. J. Howard, grocer, 1908 Eighth street, Wichita Falls, Texas, says: "I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy for kidney trouble that we have ever used. We think so highly of them that we advise their use to anyone suffering from backache or kidney complaint. After various other remedies had failed to help us, Doan's Kidney Pills were taken and they brought relief. I feel that this preparation cannot be endorsed too highly."

BIG PASTURE PICNIC SEPTEMBER 15-16

The fifth annual Big Pasture picnic and reunion will be held at Grandfield on September 15 and 16. The committee on arrangements is now at work engaging good speakers and other entertainment features.

The Big Pasture picnic and reunion is an event that always attracts a large attendance, owing to the feeling of comradeship among the residents of the pasture and the good entertainment afforded. Three thousand people attended the event last year, and arrangements are being made for taking care of an even larger crowd this year.—Frederick Leader.

Unless a man bawls like a baby at his wife's funeral, the women present think he is enjoying it.

GRANDFIELD ASKS $25,000 DAMAGES

Coporation Alleges That Engineering Failed to Perfom Contract in Installation of Water System.

Frederick Leader.

Suit has been filed by the incorporated town of Grandfield against the Southwestern Engineering company, the company which constructed the Grandfield waterworks system, asking for $25,000 damages. The petition alleges failure to perform contract.

The attorneys for Grandfield set out, that after the town board had adopted the specifications for the waterworks system the Southwestern Engineering company entered into a contract with the town to do the work according to specifications. The records show that the company's first price for the work was $26,000 and that a supplementary contract was made for $15,768.20.

The town through its attorneys, alleges that the pretended construction is so faulty, careless, negligent, slothful and unworkmanlike that, although the pipes for the so-called system have been laid for more than five months, and although the well dug to supply the water affords at least 20,000 gallons of water a day, which could be pumped through the mains, no water has ever yet been delivered through the mains to reach or supply the town. This, the petition alleges, is due to the company's poor work and its failure to comply with the specifications and and with its contract with the town.

Many specific allegations of nonperformance of contract are made, such as the statement that the pipes furnished will not stand the required test of 160 pounds to the square inch, that the well is not the depth agreed upon, it would have been worth $100,000 to the city, but that the plant, as it has been constructed by the defendant, is with such defective workmanship as to be wholly worthless and valueless. By reasonof the company's failure to perform its contract, the town claims damages in the sum of $25,000.

MINING GOLD NEAR MANITOU

"Tell the readers of the Leader that I saw gold being mined a few days ago," said H. S. Morrison, of near Manitou, to a representative of this paper, Tuesday morning. Mr. Morrison was en route home from a trip to Wichita Falls and Vernon, Texas. He said that he witnessed three men at work on the claim of the Manitou Mining company, about five miles northeast of Manitou, several days ago, and they were taking out gold in considerable quantities. He thinks there is no doubt but that there is a good deposit of gold in that locality.—Frederick Leader.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Having returned from Chicago, where I took another special course in diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, I desire to announce to the public that I am better prepared than ever before to practice this specialty, having the latest and most progressive ideas in this particular line. My office equipment for this work is second to none in Texas, everything being absolutely sanitary and up to now. A lady attendant always in charge.

Letters from prominent ad men who were in attendance at the Boston convention are very complimentary to the work of H J. Bean, who attended from this place, in bringing prominently before the people of the east the advantages of Wichita Falls as outlined in the large amount of advertising prepared and furnished by Secretary Day of the Chamber of Commerce and which was distributed under the direction of Mr. Bean. As a result Wichita Falls occupies a much larger spot on the map than before the visit of Mr. Bean to the national association of ad clubs and no doubt much good will result from his having made the trip from this place.

J J. Pontius, who was advertised to give an aviation exhibit at this place on July 28 and 29, but who was unable to get his machine to perform, successfully, reported this morning that he made a flight at the lake yesterday afternoon late, in which he rose to a distance of 40 or 50 feet and covered something like a half mile in the flight. To a Times reporter he stated that he would make another flight this evening if the weather conditions weer favorable and that he hoped to be successful both as to altitude and distance. He reports having gotten his machine in first-class condition and is very confident that he will be able to surpass anything that he has yet accomplished in aerial navigation.

Work on the foundation of a new residence for A. S. Fonville on the site occupied by his home in Floral Heights, which was destroyed by fire several months ago, will be begun the first of the week and the construction of the building rushed to completion as fast as possible. The building as planned will be two story and basement and will be constructed largely or brick and will be a fire proof structure. It will be supplied with steam heat as well as many other conveniences and when completed cost approximately $10,000. Later Mr. Fonville plans to construct a summer house on the premises, as well as a garage and these with other improvements will run the total cost considerably above the figure mentioned above. The plans for the new structure were prepared by Jones & Orloop, architects, who will superintend the construction of the work.
